Notice of Filing of Lawsuit

ZOOM CORPORATION (hereinafter referred to as "the Company") hereby announces that it has filed a lawsuit against Zoom Video Communications, Inc. (hereinafter referred to as "ZVC") in the Tokyo District Court, demanding an injunction against the infringement of the Company's trademark rights.

1. Court and date of filing of the lawsuit

- (1) Court: Tokyo District Court
- (2) Date of filing: November 30, 2021

2. Party against whom the lawsuit was filed (Defendant)

- (1) Name: Zoom Video Communications, Inc.
- (2) Address: 55 Almaden Boulevard, 6th Floor, San Jose, CA 95113 USA
- (3) Representative: Eric S. Yuan, Chief Executive Officer

3. Background leading to the filing of the lawsuit

- (1) Zoom Video Communications, Inc. (ZVC), a U.S. corporation, uses a mark that is closely similar to our registered trademark in providing customers with its video conferencing programs necessary to use the video conferencing service.
- (2) In response, on September 17, 2021, the Company filed a lawsuit against NEC Networks & System Integration Corporation (hereinafter referred to as "NEC Networks & System Integration"), demanding an injunction against the infringement of the Company's trademark rights. For details, please refer to the press release issued on September 17, 2021.
- (3) The reason why the Company filed a lawsuit against NEC Networks & System Integration prior to this lawsuit is because NEC Networks & System Integration is the first distributor of ZVC in Japan and the Company could not confirm the fact that ZVC Japan provides video conferencing services and its actual business remains unclear. For the same reason, the Company has decided to file a lawsuit against ZVC, a U.S. corporation, instead of ZVC Japan.
- (4) In this lawsuit, as in the previous lawsuit, we are not claiming compensation for damages, but this does not indicate that we have no monetary loss. The purpose of the lawsuit is to confirm that our registered trademark is an intellectual property that should be legally protected, and that this is an indication of our stance that we do not want to settle the case with a settlement.

We would also like to point out that we have received opinions from several law firms specializing in intellectual property that there is a high possibility that the act of providing customers with its video conferencing services infringes our registered trademark rights.
